Cup to Fr. and Mrs. Fraty.

"The members of Pilgrim Congregational Thurch held the annual business meeting of the surlety at the church De-cember buth. The reports of the several departments of the work showed advance-ment made during the year, and all re-flected the deep regret so universally felt. In the church over the resignation of Dr. L. H. Frary from the pastorate and the contemplated removal from Pomma of tary William N. Riackstoin and six learge S. Palmer, Mr. Henry A. Thred was appedited netting principal of the academy, to succeed Dr. Robert P. Keep-resigned.

Between 40 and 50 applications for the Adams and Dr. R. S. Nichols, and adopted

Among the most prominent candidates, busides Mr. Tirrell, were Henry E. Hourne, who was a member of the Aredony faculty in 1891, and now professor in a western callege, and Mr. Akkinson, at one time head of the rebroods in Spring-field, Mass., and later director of the educational work in the Philippines for this country. Mr. Akkinson resigned from the latter position a few months ago on account of ill beath and is now returning home by the way of India with this wife.

"Mr. Tirrell's appointment is a most papular one and a tribute to list well recognized shiftles. He is only 29 years old which makes him probably the youngest principal of no educational institution of similar grade in the country. He was born at Santh Castham, Mass., and is the Methodist Episcopal Phurch from 1990 to 1896 and is now located in Mildicharo, Mass.

"The selection of Mr. Tirrell as principal is a matter of engagnization to the cast that he received his preparatory training in the Free Academy, graduating in the Free Academy, gr

"After graduating front college he had charge of the fireck department at the Pennington Collegiate luntiture in Pennington, N. J., for two years and them accepted a position on the Academy faculty in Norwich. He remained here for three years and them went to the University of Chicago for a year's engine of study in history. Receiving a flattering offer from the Academy, he returned to Korwich and has since been a member of the stangist Latin, Breck, economics, history, bookkeeping and physical training. He also directed the coaching of the hases hall and foot hall teams.

"The appointment of Mr. Tirrell to the principalship meets with the manimum he is very popular, also of the faculty and id his many friends in this city and ids where, he is a young man of strong character, of excellent exceedive ability and a capable scholar. Lots of Catarrh Troubles Now that the trouble comes back again -Ves. worse than ever. We studied the matter for years We found that Catarrh attacks the membranes.

Awfully aggravating to say the least. Some folks use douches and snuffs --They get temporary relief-

So we reasoned like this --To cure Catarrh - the diseased membranes must be cured. That's so, isn't it? We studied, and mixed, and filtered, and studied again.

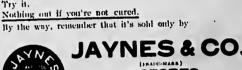

After a long time we got results - good ones - And we put the ingredients together into a bottle. We call it Vicona - Jaynes' Vicenn. And it really and truly cures Catarri.

It has been enring our customers for two years. All kinds of Catarrit too - Throat - Stomach - Illadder -

Howels -Or mywhere that the mucous membranes are diseased. Yes, we are sure of it -

So sure that we guarantee it. If Jaynes' Vicens fails to cure your case of Catarrit Why then-bring lack the empty bottle and gel your 636. That's the price.

That's fair, isn't it? We mean it.

repiled rather lorily. "I never altempt to inffunce legislation before congress. If the full is passed and the president could it to me and it comes within my province to execute it, then it will be time for me to examine it. Now, as it strands, I know nothing alsoul it."

"I am serry for that," said the representative, "far I have received a long romanufaction favoring the full, which I am helined to oppose. I thought I would come over and ask you about it. The communication recites these reasons for the passage of the ldit," and the representative read a long letter, while Secretary Wilson drummed on his dosk and bosked lored.

"Well, what of it?" inquired Mr. Wilson after the reading.

"Nothing, only this communication was signed by you."

Secretary Wilson sat up in his chair with a jerk.

"Insper," he said to his son, who neis as his private secretary, "illd I ever write a letter like that?"

"No, father," the son replied, "but Professor Blank wrote it, and you signed it."

Recent occurrences in regard to Venezueia give point to a little story told by President Castro, who secens to have a keen seuse of humor. A certain wealthy South American died without a will. His disappointed heirs expeciant thereupon conspired with a notary. A string was tied around the dead many's neck, and the notary proceeded to request his assent to the bequests agreed upon by the rousignators. "Ynti leave your his assent to the bequests agreed upon by the renspirators. "Yan leave your cattle to Maximo, our lames to Maria, your coffee to Jose." At each of these questions the string was pulled, and a hod was obtained from the corpse. Then the nodary mentioned a lequest to himself, but the holder of the string did not pull. This authentic story was marriaed in Caracas the other day by President Castro. "The molary's exclamation," concluded the Venezuelan president, "accurately describes an exclamation," concluded the Venezuelan president, "accurately describes an existing international silination. Threatening to tear up the document, be cried, 'Oh, the string must be pulled for everyhody or there will be no will."

Moles la liteti tiurden Aoli. Moles to first toward acts.

I have had chough experience with moles in loose, rich garden soit to know what a fearful mulsame they can make of themselves. Even for juriful relief I think one must prepare for a long and stubbern fight. I doubt for a long and stablern fight. I doubt the efflency of pulsons. The only method by which the number of utilea can be reduced, so far as known to me now, is trapping, says T. Grehar in Farm and Fressley. Get half a dozen traps. You can flight them in the hardware stores. Most large seedsman keep them too. Examine them, and then use your own Judgment in selecting fraps; or make it anniher of flight and falls. If you are a skillful trapper, you may have as good success with them as with factory made traps. Keep the fraps net, and do not let up as long as the moles are also for the property own patch and their case the moles that come from neighbors lands, but don't vease in your wurfurs until victory is yours. Toultry offers one good source and la not likely to be evertone for a long time to come. Small fruit can be made unother source, and this, too, is in no danger of heling evertone, as the demand for small fruit is growing constantly. Both of the above speciality like a linest from the size, that of door vegetables after another special while the former to reap his benefits almost from the size, that of door vegetables after another special which hight be made very profitable by improved methods of cultivation with horsepower. The above named specials could be substitished and only a particular branch followed, as positify for eggs only or carry brothers of cupons. This latter should be especially another to go of the last paying apecialities that can be inducted.

specialities that can be midpled.

Frait ascriation.

Strawberries offer a hig paying special, and there are those who make this their only source of facome and are making money at it. Haspherries and blackberries are mather source and might go together, and cost but little to alart with. Peachen and plants are already an exclusive and profilable specialty with many. A man living be central Massachment told me last annancer that if he was a young man starting out in life mow he would make peaches his only branch, excluding all other lines of farming. Following this course of precedure, I have no doubt any one could make peaches a most decided success.

Vegetables. That Pay.

Squashes, among the vegetables, offer one of the best puying specialties where conditions of soil are favorable, as prices are generally good and they are by no means a hard crop to rulse. Onlons, already a great apschil crop, are produtable, although some growers say "no money in onlons," but I notice they stick to them. Table beets and paradipa are always easy to sell, profituble and easy to rube and good cropato ship ta city iourkets. Urrots are one of the easiest and ought to be more extensively rulsed both for home use and city markets. I might enumerate many other bases to specialize on, but let this suffice for the present, and if it only set a be small farmer to thinking and devising a special branch of farming for his own parthalar practice my purpose is accomplished.

Awlully aggravating to say the least. Some lolks use flouches and snulla ---They get temporary reliel - lint the trouble comes back again -Yes, worse than ever. We studied the matter for years.

We found that Catarrh attacks the membranes. So we rensoned like this -To cure Catarrh - the disensed membranes must be cured, That's so, isn't it? We studied, and mixed, and filtered, and studied again.

After a long time we got results—good unca—.
And we put the ingredients together into a bottle, We call it Vicona - Jaynes' Vicena. And it really and truly cures Catarrh. It has been enring our customers for two years. All kinds of Catarrh too - Throat - Stomach - Illadder -

Among the many successful events of its kind held in Weymouth in recent years, none will stand forth more prominently than the grand four nights' carnival and fair now on at Lincoln ball under the anaptees of Delphi Lodgs No. 15, K. of P. The affair was inaugurated Tuesday evening and will be brought to a close tolight.

The one drawback to the whole event has been the limited capacity of the haif in which it is being held, and never before has the need of a spachnas hall in Precinct theen more urgently felt than an interest before has the need of a spachnas hall in Precinct theen more urgently felt than a black of the hall of the control of the hall in which it is being held, and never before has the need of a spachnas hall in Precinct theen more urgently felt.

Why American Stenley?

Just why the word Henley should be spilled to the new rowing association's regatta, which will have its first trial on the Schuyikill river next July, is beyond the ken of American sports men who have in mind the attillude of the Henley stewards toward American rowing men generally. The Schuyikill regatta or the American egatta would certainly be n more appropriate title, and the nping apirit would be eliminated. The rowing element in this country is certainly strong enough and good enough in every way to shand on its own merit, so that if we are to have a really high class regatin let it be anything but a "Henley."—Leslie's Weekly.

when "The Brest Light" was presented hat November there was a great demand for its repetition from those who heard it, but it was deemed best to wait, and let every one have something new given in the same style by the same chorns. The work on this is now under way and about the last of May there is to be given the tantata of Roth by the same chorn and under the same leadership. Although this rantata is well known to all lovers of good music, it is espected that it will at this time be brought hack pleasantly to the milads of all. The cannot have the same leadership allow in what it can do and the result of the combination will doubtless be something well worth listening to.

It seems hard to believe that during all the long ages which passed between the durin of elelization and the Caristian era the Romans and Greeks should have been ignorant of the most familiar pet of our homes, the common cat. Yet me fact seems established more clearly than this. Halm in his "Wanderings of Phints and Admists" insisted upon it, and if has since been established by the united efforts of scholars and zoologists. We know now that our domestic favorite-with its winning, coy ways, unessy when removed from mais society and yet never completely trusting it, with its mysterians old world sire-was unknown to the chief malions of ambuilty till after the Christian era.

Archivelogists have observed that in lirvek statues the male eya is atrongly archivel, while the female eya has rathern Battened surface, and, referring to accounts by the aider anatamists whin have affirmed such a difference to exist, they have seen in this a fresh proof af the exact observation of nature by the nuclent Greeks. The rula is not without exceptions, for the cornea in the Zens of Official has quite a flat form. Herr Greef recently set himself to inquire whether such a sexual difference actually exists, and from individual measurement of the radius of the cornea in the harizontal meridian in gets an average of 7.83 millimeters for men and 7.82 millimeters for wannen (bonders gives 7.858 and 7.709), so the difference is so small as to be imperceptible to the naked eye. Measurement of after dimeasions gave but minute difference siso. The nuther concludes that the Greeks from artistic matives did nat in this case follow nature.—Loudon Nature.

The man whose long suffering sister has always selected all his gifts for friends at thristman, on birthdaya and for weddings has recently passed through an experience which makes him feel that he must mend his ways.

Not long sko he went to pay a wedding call and expressed much admiration for the silver and chino on the 5 o'clock tea table at which his pretty hostess was pouring tea.

"Which cap de you like beat?" she asked him archly. "Tell me, and you shall have your ten in it."

He losked helphessly at her and then ut the caps. "Oh, I don't know. I think that is the pretited, perhaps," he said, hulbuting an eggshell cap.

"Your tusto hasn't changed, then. That is the one you gave me when my engagement was announced," she and gayly. And he endenvared to appear comfortable, although he knew his face was growing red.

Later on, oa he rose to go, his hostess sable.

"What do you think of that pleture."

Then, turning to a man close by, be asked:

"D'ye s'pose why 'its manted Mary?"

"He's sweet on Mary Harte," said the other without dispulying a bit of interest in anything save the clup he was whitting.

"Oh!" remarked the oblone, grinning to himself and sticking the pipe back into his month, proving a bit of sentiment could not hare him from the habit, "Vere he comes now."

"He's got his ears along," said the other, looking across the quiet space of water, "D'ye s'pose he's goin' on!?"

"Reckon so, but 'lain't backin' much out there on the bay. Gittin' a pesky fog up, I'm thinkin'," And the old man grunted at the foolbinness of it, "Why in thumler don't he stay at home for
